

Your organization hosts. Your community writes. We publish.

A free publishing program for schools, nonprofits, churches, and community groups. Your people contribute true stories, poems, and reflections on lived experience and overcoming — the theme customized to your organization's mission — and we turn them into a professionally published anthology with your organization's name on it.

How it works

1

Your community writes

Members contribute personal stories, poems, and reflections. Youth and adult tracks run separately. We provide the prompts and guidance.

2

We publish

Find the Light Books covers all publishing and production costs — editing, design, printing. Zero cost to you, ever.

3

Everyone benefits

Launch your book with a celebration event. Then watch it fund your mission (see below).

30% to your organization

30%

to contributing writers

For the first 30 days after launch, sales revenue is shared: 30% to your organization, 30% to contributing writers. After that, bulk pricing turns the anthology into an ongoing fundraiser.

Why organizations love it

A published book with your community's name on the cover — a legacy piece.

Deeper engagement — nothing bonds a community like telling the truth together.

Real fundraising — 30% revenue share, then bulk pricing for ongoing sales.

Zero cost, zero risk — we cover publishing and production completely.

WHAT WE NEED FROM YOU

- A point person to coordinate with us
- Help gathering your writers — we'll guide them
- Spread the word when the book launches

WHAT WE HANDLE

- Writing prompts and contributor guidance
- Editing, cover design, and production
- Printing, launch support, and sales setup

Let's publish your community's story.
